

Only if it's a user entry it can be deleted, updated or create a entry from scheduler menu. If it's entry associated to a service or a transaction, it will open a modal to the original entry to change there. The only thing that can be done from scheduler menu if turn efective the event So the schedule menu has two behaviors depending on who creates the evnt.